Special circular No. S1/2010

January 2011

To the Members and clients of Gard Group

Dear Sirs,

Re: List of Correspondents now only available electronically

For some time now Gard has been reviewing its publications to ensure that they are published in as timely and efficient a manner as possible. Increasingly the world looks first to electronic media for its information, and clients want information that is immediately available and as up to date as possible. In addition, we are aware of our environmental responsibilities and are looking to use less paper.

As a result from 2011 we will no longer publish a paper copy of our List of Correspondents. Instead we have improved the access and database on our website so that you will be able to find the details you require. There is a link on the homepage of our website – www.gard.no – and it can be accessed through the Making contact section. In addition, we have created a mobile phone application to increase the availability of the data. A PDF-version of the List of Correspondents will also be available on our website around 15 February.

Any questions with regard to the above may be addressed to Geir Sandnes in Gard AS.

Yours faithfully,

GARD AS
